BIG ISLAND PLANNING TO HOLD COUNTY FAIR AS ANNUAL EVENT

Civic Organization Will Meet at Hilo July 28 to Formulate Tentative Plans

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence] HILO, Hawaii, July 18.—A county fair for the Big Island, to be held early next year and annually thereafter, is the project proposed by A. Clowes, superintendent of the Glenwood experiment station and kokuaed this week by the Hilo Board of Trade. Fulfilling its duty in "starting things" for the good of the community, the people themselves to take hold and carry them through if they are desirable, the Board of Trade last Tuesday authorized President D. E. Metzger to issue a call to the executive officers of all civic organizations throughout the county to meet at Hilo on July 28 for a discussion of the county fair proposition and to make tentative plans for its inauguration as a distinctively new feature in the commercial and social life of the Big Island.

Accordingly Secretary E. N. Deyo will issue a call to the chairmen of presidents of the following organizations: Kohala Civic League, Kona Improvement Club, county board of supervisors Hilo Teachers' Union, Hawaii Poultry Association, Hilo Merchants' Association, Hawaii Buttermakers' Association, East Hawaii Cane Planters' Association, Hilo-Puna Cane Planters' Association, Association of Hilo and Hamakua Plantation Managers; also the bureau of commissioners of agriculture and forestry, as represented here by Dr. H. B. Elliot, deputy territorial veterinarian and Brother Mathias, entomological inspector; also to the United States experiment station and the Board of Health. The idea advanced by Clowes is that the administration of the fair be taken by a committee of the various organizations above-mentioned, whose cooperation in an enterprise of this kind may be reasonably expected. Some of these as yet are young and feeble, but it is thought that they already have the sufficient strength to assume responsibility for the particular section of the show which should rightly fall to their lot. Clowes is convinced they need some activity such as this to put them on their feet.

Each organization probably would be expected to assume responsibility for a special branch of the exhibit, as for instance, the Buttermakers' Association would have charge of the dairy displays, arrange for competition in such products and perhaps also assume responsibility for the livestock in that department.

The suggestion is advanced that Brother Mathias could be put at the head of a strong committee to organize the exhibits of fruits, vegetables, other farm products and flowers. If he should be too busy with this, says Clowes, to do anything in the way of demonstrations with insects the entomologist of the experiment station would probably be willing to send or bring a collection of insects and be prepared to give information and demonstrations relative to methods of destruction, prevention, etc.

"Perhaps the plantation managers would arrange for competitions for the best-driven team of mules," says Clowes in his communication to the Board of Trade, "or perhaps, what is needed just as much—a plowing match. And the Board of Health could have a tuberculosis exhibit."

The housing of exhibits likely could be accomplished satisfactorily by use of the armory, Shipman's unused market, the Hilo library, the Board of Health building, etc.

The Hilo Teachers' Union could be depended on to have an exhibit of school work in various departments, particularly in farm products, while the instructors could be counted on for vigorous work on the many committees.

Clowes believes that with careful management the county fair ought to pay its way.

"It would be a great help, however," he says, "to have a county appropriation of about $1000, even if someone dropped dead when it was asked for. In the absence of that it could be financed along the lines of the Mid-Pacific Carnival. It seems to me the most favorable time to hold the show would be in December or early in January, before the sugar mills are very busy."

Clowes advances these ideas merely as suggestions. When the representatives of the various organizations meet at the Board of Trade rooms July 28 ideas will be taken as a basis for discussion, and if the general proposition is approved the general committee will probably proceed to revise and build up in detail much along the lines thus marked by him.

MANY PLANKS ARE PROPOSED FOR DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM

go on record as in favor of woman suffrage, but to pledge that, should a Democrat be returned to Washington as delegate, he will work to have the organic act amended to provide for a plebiscite on the woman suffrage question.

Another plank advocates the recall referendum and initiative. The proposition of the recall of the judiciary was passed over as undesirable under local conditions.

The educational plank calls for the extension of local education and favors the advancement of vocational training. In this connection Prince Kuhio comes in for a roasting. He is severely criticized for his failure to get the College of Hawaii included in the appropriations made under the Lever bill. It is insisted that the College of Hawaii is the only institution of agricultural and mechanical art training that is excepted from the measure.

Under another proposed plank the party pledges itself to work for the reservation of land in the centers of population to be used for the burial ground of indigent dead.

May Oppose Civil Service.

POLITICAL NOTES

E. K. Hanapi will run for senator from the fifth district on the Democratic ticket.

E. J. McCandless, member of the house of 1913, will run again as a Democrat, it is reported.

John Lucas, candidate for senator, and Eugene K. Au, candidate for the house, filed their nomination papers on Saturday at the territorial secretary's office.

H. M. Kaniho, former member of the house, will again be a candidate, this time on the Home Rule ticket from the Fifth district. Kaniho's campaign in 1912 was a virulent attack on the sanitary campaign carried on by the health authorities the year previous when banana plants were cut down to destroy mosquito-breeding places.

Charles K. Nottley's campaign is progressing along its usual lines. He never has a chance to win the delegateship but always polls a few hundred votes, most of them on Hawaii, which detracts from some other candidate. Nottley is regarded as a Kuhio man and advises his audiences to vote for Kuhio if they can't vote for him.

John M. Bright, formerly of Lahaina, is now editor of the Aloha Aina, L. L. McCandless' Hawaiian paper. Bright succeeds D. Kahalelo, leader of the Lahui party. It was Kahalelo's championship of the new party that caused McCandless to dismiss him and now the erstwhile editor says that he will run for delegate to beat McCandless unless Palmer Woods should consent to be a candidate. Kahalelo, Albert Harris and others are making large claims for the strength of the Lahuis, but in most quarters these claims are not taken seriously.

E. J. Gay, milk inspector of the city and county, is a candidate for nomination on the Democratic ticket for representative of the Fifth district. E. J. McCandless and David Kupihea, both of whom served in the lower house in the last legislature, being elected on the Democratic ticket, are also candidates, running from the Fifth district for their old seats in the house.

Rudolph M. Duncan, vice-chairman of the Republican county committee, is sending out notices of the coming Honolulu county platform convention. The notices are:

"Gentlemen: Pursuant to Article IV of the Rules and Regulations of the Republican party of the Territory of Hawaii, notice is hereby given that the delegates to the Republican Territorial Convention held July 13, 1914, from the Fourth and Fifth Representative Districts, comprising the City and County of Honolulu, shall convene on Monday, July 27, 1914, at 10 a. m. in the makai pavilion of the Alexander Young Hotel building, Honolulu, T. H., to formulate a Republican platform for this county."

Gaeboye—"In this town, old man, you can't get away any place without dropping a dollar or two." Wizeg—"I dropped a cent in a scale there and got a weigh with it."

"Is that right, Charlie, as your missus 'ts you wiv a flatiron?" "Er—yus—but only with the blunt end of it."—Punch.
